Rise: In a pair of trousers it is the distance from the middle of the crotch seam (right between your legs) to the top of the waistband.

Low-rise

Low rise pants are meant to sit well below your natural waist and below the navel. They are also called "low-cut", "hipsters", and "low-riders".

Natural-rise

Pants with a natural waist typically position the waistband just below the navel.

High-rise

The waist sits above the navel and fastens at or above the narrowest part of the waist.
